EARTHWARD:
WINTER DANCE CONCERT

DIRECTED BY ELIZABETH SHEA
RUTH N. HALLS THEATRE
The IU Department of Theatre + Dance acknowledges and honors the Indigenous communities native to this region, and recognizes that Indiana University Bloomington is built on Indigenous homelands and resources. We recognize the myaamiaki, Lênape, Bodowadnik, and saawanwa people as past, present, and future caretakers of this land. We also acknowledge that this University would not exist if it wasn’t for the free, enslaved labor of Black people. We honor the legacy of the African diaspora and Black life, knowledge, and skills, stolen due to violence and white supremacy.

LIVE PERFORMANCE

The mission of the Department of Theatre, Drama, and Contemporary Dance is to advance the art, scholarship, and appreciation of theatre and dance and its place in society. We pursue this mission collectively and as individuals through theatrical productions, scholarship and publication, presentation of our work in national and international venues, formal instruction, and individual mentoring.

The Department of Theatre, Drama, and Contemporary Dance is accredited by the National Association of Schools of Theatre and is a member of the University/Resident Theatre Association and United States Institute for Theatre Technology.

Welcome to IU Theatre & Dance 2021–2022!

We are thrilled to be back in person with live audiences!

Live performance is a place for communities to gather for engaged storytelling. Our stories this year are exciting, meaningful, and in many ways express the zeitgeist of our world. With such a wide variety of theatre, musicals, and dance performances we welcome you into the theatres to experience the work of our students and faculty as they create, make, construct, and share their skills and artistry with our community.

The pandemic has provided us the opportunity to engage in new methodologies, begin to center historically marginalized voices, and forge a new way forward in the performing arts.

When you experience the performances of IU Theatre & Dance, you are engaging with a live process that was created from hundreds and hundreds of hours of human labor and reflects the rigorous training of our students under the expert mentorship of outstanding faculty.

This season we want to express gratitude to our Theatre Circle friends and all our donors who were steadfast in the financial support of our department through this past pandemic year and into the unknowns of this year. Without their support, we would not be able to provide the superior quality of work you will experience here today. We also want to express gratitude to our audiences for taking the plunge and coming out to share our performances with us. A tremendous part of the work and training of live performance is the audience interaction in real time. This past year, while our productions were online, we missed the face-to-face study that takes place in our studios and theatre spaces are to our work and training.

Finally, we’d ask that you take a moment to read our land and labor acknowledgement on page two. As we return to our beloved building and stages, we must remain mindful that the Lee Norvelle Theatre and Drama Center sits on Indigenous homelands and resources.

We look forward to having you join us for all of our live performances this year and wish you our very best for the 2021–2022 academic year live and in-person!

With Gratitude,
Linda Pisano

It’s December 2021, and we continue to live in extraordinary times. Gratefully, and joyously, we return to the stage with Earthward, an anthology of dance works that reflect our collective consciousness as a society, a people.

Dances are more than works of kinesis, tradition, thought, and beauty, they are historical archives of specific moments in time, though ephemeral and fleeting. As dance-makers we do not create alone, and every moment during our process is tied to our own personal story and those of our movement collaborators. This approach positions dance-making as an embodied chronicle of specific times and places, reflective of thoughts, feelings, and perspectives of everyone in the room and associated with the work. It brings us closer to the lives of individuals, making the dance more meaningful and arguably essential to all who witness the creative process and product.

So where are we now, in this moment in time, December 2021? We hear on the news, and through social media, that people are reexamining their lives, leaving unfulfilling and abusive work in droves, and prioritizing personal fulfillment. The pandemic showed us that life is fleeting, and happiness is worth fighting for. Our nation’s racial reckoning, though in its infancy, continues, sometimes moving forward in unity, and sometimes stalled, crippled by the white supremacy that permeates our institutions and polarizes our people.

And where do we go when we want to start anew, when we seek the most fundamental relationship of our humanity? We go to the earth, with respect and gratitude. We stay low, yielding, letting gravity do its work. In Earthward, we explore multiple relationships between bodies and ground, through thought-provoking choreography and performance. We welcome guest artists Dr. Prathiba Batley and Cameron McKinney, whose own individual approaches to land expand our understanding of the field, as well as new faculty members Beatrice Capote and Robert Burden to their first performance for the stage.

Earthward is a re-grounding of our collective thoughts and actions through the complexity of human movement expression. We hope you will immerse yourself in the dance, and leave the theatre changed, renewed.

This choreographic work is a journey inspired by the Afro-Cuban folklore history, song and dances of the Orishas/deities of the Lukumi religion of Cuba (deriving from Yoruba in Nigeria) and Palo religion from the Congo of Central Africa. We call onto the spirits of our ancestors to guide us through injustices. May the power of African/African Diaspora chants, poetry, song, rhythm and dance continue to live in our hearts.

A villanelle is a French verse form consisting of five three-line stanzas and a final quatrain, with the first and third lines of the first stanza repeating alternately in the following stanzas. These two refrain lines form the final couplet in the quatrain. See Elizabeth Bishop’s “One Art.”

(PoetryFoundation.org)

We worked with movement phrases sourced from the dancer’s writings, and explored what rhyme and repetition is in movement.

“There are, it seems, two muses: the Muse of Inspiration, who gives us inarticulate visions and desires, and the Muse of Realization, who returns again and again to say “It is yet more difficult than you thought.” This is the muse of form. It may be then that form serves us best when it works as an obstruction, to baffle us and deflect our intended course.

It may be that when we no longer know what to do, we have come to our real work and when we no longer know which way to go, we have begun our real journey. The mind that is not baffled is not employed.

The impeded stream is the one that sings.”

Ms. Vaidehi Herbert and Dr. S. Palaniappan on ancient Tamil poetry (sangam) consultation

PROGRAM NOTE
In the holes created by bumblebees in the bamboos waving on the hillside, western wind creates music like that of a flute, the sounds of the waterfalls resemble the sound of drums, the male deer’s calls act as the sound of the trumpets, the bees humming on the flowers on the hill slopes act as the sound of the lute, and with all these melodious sounds as the backdrop, the monkeys act as members of an excellent learned assembly watching in wonder at the peacock dancing on the hillside like the virali dancing on the festival stage.

Note: Sangam poetry (ancient Tamil poetry, 500 BCE to 500 CE) is rich in landscape and the visuals seen in the landscape. The viralis were the first dancers recorded in sangam poetry. The virali composed poems, sang, and danced and often acted as the messenger between the hero and the heroine. This Bharatanatyam piece depicts the beauty of this poem through natya (lyrical dance) and nritta (abstract dance).

JEFF BALDWIN
(Tap board Designer)

(he/him) has served as the technical director on numerous productions, for both indoor and outdoor venues, including Tent Theatre, Indiana Festival Theatre and the Lyceum Theatre. Most recently he served as the Technical Director for the University of Oklahoma, University Theatre. There he taught courses in Technical Production and Advanced Materials. He received a B.S.ed in Speech and Theatre Education from Missouri State University and an M.F.A. in Theatre Technology from Indiana University. Prior to starting his career in the arts, Jeff served in the United State Marine Corps as part of an infantry boat unit. Over the past 15+ years, he worked his way up through the ranks holding various roles such as master carpenter, assistant technical director, welder, and scenery automation tech. His research interests are motion control systems and scenery automation.

PRATHIBA NATESAN BATLEY
(Choreographer)

A three-time Indian National Champion of Bharatanatyam, Dr. Prathiba Natesan Batley is an international dancer with over 300 performances to her credit. She is trained in the Kalakshetra style of Bharatanatyam by Guru Preethi Menon, in Kathakali by Kalamandalam Udayakumar Ashaan and in facial expressions by Kalamandalam Prasanthi Jayaraj. In her performances she explores the now using Kalamandalam Prasanthi Jayaraj. In her research collaborations with Dr. Matthew Allen, Prathiba has been reviving the antinai padams by K. Ponnaiah Pillai that were written in the early 20th century. She has been invited to perform at TedxTWU, is producer and protagonist of Set Free – a dance short film, choreographer of the Great Celestial Cow, and director/creator of productions such as Enticing Anklets(Konjum Salangai) and The Ballad of the Gypsy (Kuraravani). In 2012 she established Eyakkam (Movement) Dance Company – a 501(c)(3) not-for-profit dance company based in Dallas, TX. Since then she has also been teaching bharatanatyam. Dr. Natesan Batley is also a statistician with over 50 peer-reviewed research publications and over 50 conference presentations. She is often invited to give workshops in statistics at prestigious institutions such as Oxford University in the UK. These experiences have further honed her attention to detail, research, and pedagogical skills in dance. Experiencing Prathiba’s lecture demonstrations and master classes have often been described as “life-changing” by aspiring dancers.

I.CHristopher Berg
(Production Technical Director)

has designed numerous productions for Brown County Playhouse as well as Stanton’s Garage, The Peer Panel, and The Crucible here at IU Bloomington. His research interests vary from lean manufacturing and its inherent nature in theatre to the use of composite materials and techniques in scenic & properties construction. An avid sailor and member of U.S. Sailing, he is also interested in the re-introduction of current marine rigging into theatrical rigging. Christopher is a member of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, Local 618.

BABA STAFFORD C. BERRY, JR.
(Choreographer)

is an accomplished artist, educator, activist, and scholar of African-rooted dance, theatre, and aesthetics. He is the Director of the IU African American Dance Company (AADC) and former Co-Director of The Berry & Nance Project. He has toured nationally and internationally to Europe, Africa, and the Caribbean. He is a certified Umfundla Dance Technique teacher and a licensed Zumba® instructor. Mr. Berry was Associate Artistic Director of Baba Chuck Davis’ internationally acclaimed African American Dance Ensemble for 14 years and Faculty at the American Dance Festival for five years. Mr. Berry’s artistic efforts are concerned with creating embodied epistemologies for contemporary African American culture while making space for black, LGBTQIA+, and other disempowered communities. Wawa Aba, his work for the world-class Dayton Contemporary Dance Company, continues to tour nationally and internationally, and is an audience favorite. Here at IU, Mr. Berry has made several works including: 2017-2018 Ritual Strut/Battle Ready!, Mas(k)ulinitieS, and Best Part for AADC, as well as Throwin’ Shade for AADC and IUCD; 2018-2019 Dance Diana for AADC and Good Game, Yo! and Aggregation for AADC and IUCD.

Mr. Burden is the Artistic Director of Tap Team Two & Company, Inc. in Philadelphia. In 2000 the company was awarded The Artist of The Year. With the company, Mr. Burden has created 7 shows: Cyndi-Elia, With or Without Shoes, An Evening of Tap, The Fifth Anniversary Concert, Steppin’ Through the Strings (a collaboration with John Blake Jr.), Winter Rhythms (a company collaborative) and Feet Talk. Mr. Burden has taught the Czech Tap Champions from Prague and been a fly squad member of Riverdance. He completed a three year project in 2004 called The New Orleans/Philadelphia Cultural Exchange Program, which gave children from both cities the opportunity to experience each others’ culture and study with some of the Masters of Tap Dance such as Diane Walker, LaVaughn Robinson, Buster Brown, Jimmy Slyde, and more. Mr. Burden’s artistic mission is to keep tap dance alive and growing through to the next generation.
BEATRICE CAPOTE
is a Cuban American contemporary dancer, choreographer, educator and founder of Contempo: Capo Technique Exercises. SUEÑO
TRANSLATED AND ADAPTED
BY JOSÉ RIVERA
FROM THE PLAY
BY PEDRO CALDERÓN DE LA BARCA

Sueño is Obie Award-winning playwright José Rivera’s translation and adaptation of Calderón de la Barca’s classic Life Is a Dream. Set in 1655, this metaphysical drama—renowned as one of the jewels of the Spanish Golden Age—Sueño follows the life of young Prince Segismundo, heir to the Spanish throne, who is imprisoned at birth when astrologers predict his reign as king would result in the country’s ruin. Segismundo’s father, King Basilio, banishes the infant to a tower, but decides to release the prince at age twenty-five to test Segismundo’s capacity as ruler. If the astrological prediction holds true, Basilio will re-imprison Segismundo by assuming him that such a brief taste of freedom was only a dream.
