CULTURAL IMMERSION: WINTER DANCE CONCERT

DIRECTED BY BEATRICE CAPOTE

RUTH N. HALLS THEATRE
IU Theatre + Dance acknowledges and honors the Indigenous communities native to this region, and recognizes that Indiana University Bloomington is built on Indigenous homelands and resources. We recognize the myaamiki, Lênape, Bodwéwadmik, and saawanwa people as past, present, and future caretakers of this land.

LIVE PERFORMANCE

The mission of the Department of Theatre, Drama, and Contemporary Dance is to advance the art, scholarship, and appreciation of theatre and dance and its place in society. We pursue this mission collectively and as individuals through theatrical productions, scholarship and publication, presentation of our work in national and international venues, formal instruction, and individual mentoring.

The Department of Theatre, Drama, and Contemporary Dance is accredited by the National Association of Schools of Theatre and is a member of the University/Resident Theatre Association and United States Institute for Theatre Technology.

LIVING IMPACT

![Theatre & Dance Logo]
Greetings and welcome to the IU Theatre and Dance 2023-2024 production season!

We are thrilled with the productions we have for our students and audiences this year.

Live performance is a place for communities to gather for engaged storytelling. Our stories this year continue with our tradition of bringing the most exciting, meaningful, and entertaining work to our audiences. We continue to use live performance as an opportunity to express the zeitgeist of our world. We hope that you will consider joining us for many additional lectures, discussions, and collaborations throughout the season.

This year we welcome a new generation of graduate and undergraduate students that will directly contribute to the artistry and craft. We’d like to take a moment to welcome many guest artists to our season – from choreography and music direction to directing and designing. We’d also like to welcome Dr. Sarah Johnson, who joins our faculty as the Head of Dramaturgy, and David Tracy, our new Public Relations and Audience Development Specialist.

We’d also like to take a moment to bid a fond farewell to Laura Judson and Madison Colquette, two fantastic staff members in our department community who are moving on to wonderful new chapters. We thank them for their service to our department and especially to our students.

Thank you to our patrons, donors, Theatre Circle members, and of course YOU, the audience experiencing our students’ work at this performance! Please visit our website or pick up a brochure to learn more about how you can become a member of the Theatre Circle, and to find out more about our upcoming productions, student independent projects, guest artists, student organizations, and class offerings. We look forward to having you join us for all our live performances this year and wish you our very best for the 2023-2024 academic year!

With Gratitude,
Linda Pisano
Chair & Professor,
Dept. of Theatre & Dance
My concept for this production came from the thought, “I want this concert to be multicultural and students to be immersed in it!” That meant a semester-long process of immersing in traditional and contemporary Korean dance forms; Flamenco dance and understanding its African and Gipsie roots; African diaspora spirituality, lived social experience, Tap dance, Ethiopian culture, indigenous stories, spiritual and lived conscious/unconscious stories.

Culturally specific dances come from resilience, fighting for liberation, hard work, labor, protest, ancestral struggle, and perseverance. While we can bask in the joy and fun that many cultural dances have evolved to be, it is essential to reconnect with their authenticity and traditions so that we understand the lived experiences that shaped them.

Young folks today are already immersing themselves in different cultures without realizing their historical value. By guest artists Professor Emerita Iris Rosa, DaEun Jung and Meira Goldberg bringing African Diaspora, Korean and Flamenco dances to IU, students and audiences have the educational opportunity to gain insights into different dance origins, their historical and cultural significance, and the world around them. It provides students a chance to vocalize their literacy of each dance, offering a vital understanding before immersing themselves in cultures.

This concert imagines and moves us toward a world where:

— Different cultures are acknowledged.
— Dance is understood as educational and historical.
— Dances go beyond movement, incorporating a feeling that resonates with the audiences.
— Authentic dances and stories are appreciated.
— Dance brings awareness to the present and future.

The world is shifting, and we need to be transforming with it. The wonderful aspect of dance is that it is our source to express change and transformation. We as dance makers and artists get to be loud, bold, and express our voice with you.

Each choreographer shares their lived experience through cultural, spiritual, educational, lived or historical research. Each piece involves extensive research; taking us back in time to move forward to where we are now.

Thank you to all the Faculty and Guest choreographers, rehearsal assistants, and production crew for their tenacity and collaboration. It takes a village to create something beautiful!

Thank You to our dance pioneers who have passed on, leaving us with the fruits of their teachings and knowledge. As artists and dance makers, we continue to teach, explore, inform, and invigorate our young folks, communities, and audiences to another level of embodied understanding.

Enjoy this Experience!

Ashé,

PROGRAM NOTE
NORRI is a contemporary group dance that reinterprets the principle, form, and mode of Korean folk dance as a communal performance practice. NORRI (놀이), meaning “play” in Korean, creates an inclusive platform to experiment with collaborative pattern compositions while celebrating both collective accomplishments and individual grooves. In NORRI 4 x 3, classical Korean dance vocabulary—originating from simple steps and gestures of Korean ancestors—is re-stylized by twelve dancers in IUC, transpassing time and space, while syncopated Pansori (traditional Korean folk opera) phrases and irregular meter Janggu rhythms stimulate dancers’ complex and playful kinesthetic exploration.

SPECIAL THANKS
My foremost appreciation to Beatrice Capote for inviting me to this amazing program as well as the faculty and staff members in IUC for your attentive collaboration and hospitality during my stay in Bloomington. Tremendous thanks to Kate Lyons for refining, evolving, and realizing the work from the rehearsal studio to the stage and Eriko Terao for being communicative, inspirational, and magical in the costume making process. All my heartfelt thanks to twelve fearless dancers who jumped into the new forms and methods of dance practice enthusiastically and collaboratively including the knee-squatting exercise to open every rehearsal. Each of your commitment and singularity inspired NORRI’s further development!

PROGRAM NOTE
In June of this year, I engaged in a workshop with Julian Boal, son of Augusto Boal, who created the Theatre of the Oppressed pedagogies. I wanted to learn more about how to embody social justice problems and solutions in collective and creative ways. I brought some of the practices to this cast and experimented with how Theatre of the Oppressed pedagogies could be applied in a dance context. My recent research centers on understanding my complicity in perpetuating Western Imperial art and dance practices that maintain structural oppression. From my cultural aesthetic training, I included two seminal post-modern ‘dance constructions’ by Simone Forti, Huddle and Scramble, circa 1961, catalogued as works in the Museum of Modern Art.

“Theatre is the art of looking at ourselves.” —Augusto Boal

Content Warning: This dance references school safety drills in the event of gun violence, and disordered eating behaviors.

SPECIAL THANKS
Thank you to Ji Yeon Kim, Assistant Professor, Jacobs School of Music, Guitar Program and students in her course, New Media, who each composed a micro score for this piece, and perform them live as an ensemble. It is a great honor to collaborate with these artists.

Thank you to the dancers for telling their stories and being brave to speak out loud. Thank you to their dance teachers and coaches from their past, who taught them abilities to arrive at this moment. Thank you to Professor Andrew Hopson for incredible support with sound technology. Thank you to Professor Sarah Johnson as Dramaturg for helping us strengthen our voices. Thank you to Professor Beatrice Capote for her leadership and vision for this concert. Thank you to guest performers in Scramble.

PROGRAM NOTE
This work is both a reimagining of the role of the fairies in Shakespeare’s A Midsummer Night’s Dream, and a dive into the realm of consciousness. Dramaturg Megan Lederman’s research and analyses provided deeper insights into the world of Shakespeare’s non-human, but conscious creatures; they are most comfortable in the woods, they are grand manipulators, they can travel through time and space, etc. As the dancers and I mined movement material from these abstract ideas, bereft of narrative, a sense of otherness, even loneliness, began to emerge.

Can embodying the sensations of living things push us to a more inclusive understanding of the human condition as we immerse ourselves in a multi-cultural perspective? The final musical selection, Fauré’s most famous Pie Jesu, meaning “give them comfort, give them rest,” accompanies the dancers as they continue their journey, alone.

SPECIAL THANKS
To Dr. Andrew Hopson for his mentorship and contributions to the sound design, and to the dancers, emerging dance-makers in their own right, who brought their talent, intelligence, commitment, and unique selves to the rehearsal process each and every day.

PROGRAM NOTE
The ancient Egyptians are credited as the first to create rope-making tools. Rope making is the process of twisting lots of fibers together to make one strong cord. A rope’s job is to remain wound together, even when contorted or knotted, otherwise it would not have enough tensile strength to pull heavy objects or keep its stability.

Black folks’ braiding techniques have been utilized to make cornrows and other intricate long-lasting hair designs. Rosetta Tharpe, a queer black woman from Arkansas plucked wire ropes (electric guitar strings), sang gospel & secular music, and influenced many early pioneers of Rock & Roll Music. Rope was used to lynch black bodies during particularly brutal periods of the Enslavement and Civil Rights periods in America’s history.

Rope has been a significant thread in many Black experiences throughout our historical past.
This work explores this complexity...utility, culture, and tragedy.

“Like rope, we are wound together. And through twists and knots, we remain strong enough to pull heavy weight.” (baba stafford)

(Note: The sound was created through a process of brushing, rubbing, tapping, whirling, whipping, and gnashing rope against metal, wood, strings, other rope. These sounds were then braided together into a score.

PROGRAM NOTE
When I came to Indiana University to set this piece, my goal was for the dancers to fall in love with flamenco. Perhaps I have succeeded in this goal. But I have also fallen in love with them, with their bravery, passion, and commitment. I am tremendously grateful to Sofia, Olivia, Payton, Melaina, Mike, and the rest of the team for stepping with me into flamenco’s conceptions of the body, the breath, and the voice as hosts for the sublime, for the divine—for the duende. Pulso means pulse, but you will hear in this piece many pulses beating together. Flamenco dancing sets in motion multiple rhythmic cycles at once: the sensuously circling hands mark one pattern, the swaying and breaking hips another, the majestic arms another, the fancy feet, another—all spinning simultaneously in precarious balance, an equilibrium in motion which burrows deeply into the soul, into the big questions of being in place. Thank you to the dancers and to you the audience for stepping with me into this circle of power—where together we can open a portal across space and time between an all-too-often precarious present and alternate aesthetic, spiritual, and moral universes. Thank you for coming with me on this journey!

PROGRAM NOTE
It’s a journey to transcend our bodies and reconnect with ourselves during moments of influx. Aligning with our purpose, balancing our minds for ongoing growth and heightened consciousness. The energetic forces of nature, embodied by the Orishas in this context, guide our alignment. These Orishas represent archetypal embodiments worshiped in IFA/Yoruba Pantheon & History. The Orishas represented is Oshun (goddess of River, femininity, attributes: love), Yemaya (goddess of oceans/salt waters; attributes: nurturing firm mother), Oya (goddess of winds/tornadoes attributes: change and transformation), Obbatala (the sky father attributes: purity, cleansing of the mind/body/spirit). In this work, I investigate—What are the human and spiritual universal forces that keep us afloat? How do we go back in time to reimagine how we can go forward?

SPECIAL THANKS
To my dancers for their openness and hard work in every rehearsal from day one. You’re all extraordinary, and I’m incredibly grateful for such a vivacious and risk-taking cast! Thanks to all the crew members and designers: what happens onstage wouldn’t be possible without the behind-the-scenes and backstage daily work. Thank you to lighting designer Ashley Christensen, Zephany Rivers, costume team and dramaturgy Spencer Wilkes Fields for adding their gifts to this work.

1 The Production Manager is a member of the Actors’ Equity Association, the Union of Professional Actors and Stage Managers in the United States.
I dedicate these performances to my auntie Yakima Williams-Rivers.

Auntie Kim was incredibly fierce and loving person. In several ways, she reminds me of Oyá in terms of being powerful force that command any space she was in. She had a roaring laugh, smile, and tight hugs that I will miss dearly. She was amazing mother, sister, and aunt. She loved unconditionally. I hope that one day I can be as great as she was. She has motivated and supported my artistry. I miss you and I love you so much. You will always be with me. Rest in power.

Sincerely,

Zephany

BABA STAFFORD
C. BERRY, JR.
(Choreographer)
is an accomplished artist, educator, activist, and scholar of African-rooted dance, theatre, and aesthetics. He is the Director of the IU African American Dance Company (AADC) and former Co-Director of The Berry & Nance Project. He has toured nationally and internationally to Europe, Africa, and the Caribbean. He is a certified Umfundalai Contemporary African Dance Technique teacher and a licensed Zumba® instructor. Mr. Berry was Associate Artistic Director of Baba Chuck Davis’ internationally acclaimed African American Dance Ensemble for 14 years and Faculty at the American Dance Festival for five years. Mr. Berry’s artistic efforts are concerned with creating embodied epistemologies for contemporary African American culture while making space for black, LGBTQIA+, and other disempowered communities. Wawa ABA, his work for the world-class Dayton Contemporary Dance Company, continues to tour nationally and internationally, and is an audience favorite. Here at IU, Mr. Berry has made several works including: 2017-2018 Ritual Strut/Battle Ready!, Mas(k)ulinities, and Best Part for AADC, as well as Throwin’ Shade for AADC and IUCD; 2018-2019 Dance Diansa for AADC and Good Game, Yo! and Aggregation for AADC and IUCD.

NICK BOISVERT
(Scenic Designer)
(he/him) is a first year Scenic Design M.F.A. candidate and is very excited to be working on Cultural Immersion. Most recently he worked as the assistant properties manager for IU’s first production of the season, Orlando. Nick hails from Phoenix, Arizona’s Grand Canyon University and is very excited to experience a new atmosphere of ideas. Next, you can see Nick work as a Properties Master for IU’s Spring production, Pipeline.

ROBERT BURDEN
(Choreographer)
received his B.F.A. in Jazz Dance from the University of the Arts in 1988, studying with LaVaughn Robinson and Germaine Ingram. Mr. Burden is the Artistic Director of Tap Team Two & Company, Inc. in Philadelphia. In 2000 the company was awarded The Artist of The Year. With the company, Mr. Burden has created 7 shows: Cyndi-Ella, With or Without Shoes, An Evening of Tap, The Fifth Anniversary Concert, Steppin Through the Strings (a collaboration with John Blake Jr.), Winter Rhythms (a company collaborative) and Feet Talk. Mr. Burden has taught the Czech Tap Champions from Prague and been a fly squad member of Riverdance. He completed a three year project in 2004 called The New Orleans/Philadelphia Cultural Exchange Program, which gave children from both cities the opportunity to experience each others’ culture and study with some of the Masters of Tap Dance such as Diane Walker, LaVaughn Robinson, Buster Brown, Jimmy Slyde, and more. Mr. Burden’s artistic mission is to keep tap dance alive and growing through to the next generation.

BEATRICE CAPOTE
is a renowned performer/educator/choreographer who created Capotechnique™, a unique fusion of Afro-Cuban dance traditions with contemporary dance forms. Capote is in her seventh season with Tony-nominated choreographer Camille A. Brown’s dance company and is Associate Professor of Contemporary Dance at Indiana University Bloomington. Capote’s recent work as Yoruba Consultant/Choreographer for the off-Broadway production “The Half God of Rainfall” at the New York Theatre Workshop was featured in The New York Times.

Capote choreographed for four-time Grammy award winner Angélique Kidjo on her newest musical “Yemanda!” She performed for Jazz at Lincoln Center with Grammy nominated award winners Paquito D’Rivera, Wynton Marsalis, and the orchestra’s leader Mr. Elio VillaFranca. She was a guest artist at Texas Women’s University introducing Capotechnique™.
Capote earned an A.A. from University of North Carolina School of the Arts, and B.A. in dance education and M.F.A. in dance from Montclair State University. beatricecapote@gmail.com

SELENE CARTER (Choreographer)
recently served as Faculty Fellow in the College of Arts and Sciences Office of Diversity and Inclusion and concluded a three-year term as Associate Chair of the Department of Theatre, Drama and Contemporary Dance. Selene was a cohort member of the spring 2023 Bloomington Symposia, The Book in Hand: book as object, where she presented creative activity about improvised movement scores based on discarded and found books, then archived in handmade books by student dancers. Her collaborative research on liberatory dance pedagogies was recently presented for the Cincinnati Ballet, the Perpich Center for the Arts in Minneapolis, at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio and at Kent State University, Kent, Ohio, and published in the Journal of Dance Education. As dancer Steve Paxton once stated, she assumes nothing is formless. Selene also assumes that nothing is outside of culture, and that when we cannot perceive the specific culture we are immersed within, we may have found our most difficult work to begin creating equity.

ASHELY CHRISTENSEN (Lighting Designer) is a first year M.F.A. candidate from Lake Oswego, OR with a B.A. in Theatre from the University of Oregon. Recent credits include: Path of Miracles with The Oregon Bach Festival, L’Italiana in Algeri with the UO Opera Ensemble and Colonialism is Terrible, But Pho is Delicious with Oregon Contemporary Theatre. She is excited to expand her horizons and collaborate with new people, places, and ideas in Indiana.

SPENCER WILKES FIELDS (Dramaturg) is a dramaturg who is currently pursuing his M.F.A. in Dramaturgy at Indiana University. Spencer recently completed his undergraduate studies at Brigham Young University, where he played a crucial role as the dramaturg for their Microburst Theatre Festival. Beyond his work on new plays, Spencer has also made significant contributions as a dramaturg for a diverse range of productions, including Fiddler on the Roof, A Midsummer Night’s Dream, Mary Zimmerman’s Metamorphoses, and The Shape of a Girl.

AUDREY FENDLER (Wardrobe Crew)(she/her) is a freshman from Leawood, KS pursuing a B.F.A. in Dance in the IU Contemporary Dance Program. During her first semester, she performed as a dancer in the Junior Choreographic Performance Project and is serving as crew for the Cultural Immersion faculty concert.

AVA FRANCISCO (Costume Designer)is a first-year graduate candidate focusing on Costume Design. Ava has been the Costume Intern for Alley Theatre and the Costume Administration Intern for Santa Fe Opera. She has designed Fish’s Belly and The Wolves for the University of Houston and Prime of Miss Jean Brodie for Playhouse 1960. She was the design assistant for Learned Ladies, Something Rotten, and Shakespeare in Hollywood. When not involved in theatre you can find Ava teaching saxophone or swing dancing.

MEIRA GOLDBERG (Choreographer)is a widely recognized performer, choreographer, teacher, and scholar. She has performed alongside major artists in Spain and across North America, has choreographed a number of operas, and has taught many of the leading lights in today’s U.S. flamenco scene. TIARA ABRAHAM
(Guest Vocalist)

A 17-year-old soprano and 2nd year master’s student at Jacobs School of Music, studies classical voice under the tutelage of Prof. Patricia Stiles. She began her classical voice training at 7 in her hometown Sacramento, California. Praised for her bell-like clarity and poised stage presence, as a soloist Tiara has performed globally, including at Carnegie Hall, the Vatican, and Musikverein in Austria, as well as on national TV and NPR affiliate radio stations. Beyond classical voice, she explores other genres. She sings and plays her own piano arrangements to well-known jazz standards and pop and has delved into the composition world with her piece ‘A New Dawn’. As an Indian-American musician passionate about representation, she advocates for underrepresented composers and musicians in her performances.

GRACE ELMER

is from Birmingham, Alabama and began studying the classical guitar at the age of ten. She began her studies at the Alabama School of Fine Arts where she studied classical guitar performance with Paul Hicks. In 2015, she began her studies with internationally renowned Peabody graduate Piotr Pakhomkin. She is a prize-winning participant of several national and international guitar competitions. She completed her Bachelor of Music in classical guitar performance under the tutelage of Petar Jankovic and Maestro Ernesto Bitetti at the Jacobs School of Music. Grace is currently an Associate Instructor at the Jacobs School of Music and President of the IU Guitar Club. In the summer of 2022, Grace joined the US Guitar Orchestra on tour in Spain performing with renowned guitarist Xavier Jara. She recently collaborated with celebrated Argentine composer Osvaldo Golijov as lead flamenco guitarist in a production of Ainadamar at the Jacobs School of Music. In the fall, she will begin a doctorate degree at the Jacobs School of Music as an Associate Instructor of Guitar. She currently plays a handmade 1984 Kohno guitar.

SHANE BUCCI

is from Otego NY, and has been playing guitar for 12 years. Starting his guitar journey first on electric guitar at the age of 13, Shane started playing classical guitar freshman year of his undergraduate coursework. Shane has completed a bachelor’s and master’s degree in guitar, and is currently working on a doctorate in guitar performance at Indiana University Jacobs School of Music.

NELSON RODRIGUEZ GARZA

is a Mexican musician who enjoys making music: playing guitar, arranging, teaching and exploring the realm of music. He is currently a guitar doctoral student at Jacobs School of Music under the tutelage of Professor Jiji Kim. He serves as an Assistant Instructor for the Guitar Department, an Online Artist Senior Instructor for the Cheerful Hearts Distance Learning Program in the Dominican Republic, and a member of the Mariachi Perla del Medio Oeste from the Latin American Music Center. Throughout his career, he has performed as a soloist in different festivals in Mexico, such as Festival Internacional de Guitarra Clasica de Monterrey de la Escuela Superior de Musica y Danza (ESMDM), Festival Internacional Cedros-UP, Festival Internacional de Guitarra Clasica UANL; where he has been accompanied by the Chamber Orchestra of the School of Music of UANL (OCFAMUS) in multiple times and the Indiana Guitar Festival and Competition as part of the guitar ensemble premiering in the US the Concierto para un Resurgir by Jose Cura arranged by Dr. Daniel Duarte.

JI YEON 'JIJI' KIM
(Guest Musician)

Praised by The Washington Post for her “mesmerizing” and “stirring” performances, JIJI is an adventurous guitarist known for her virtuosity and command of diverse repertoire. A committed champion of new music and contemporary composers, JIJI has premiered three new concertos over the past five years alone, and she continues to expand the classical guitar repertoire by commissioning new works. In 2023, JIJI will release UNBOUND, the culmination of a multiyear commissioning and recording project that aims to expand the classical guitar repertoire and redefine virtuosity. JIJI is a faculty member at the Indiana University Jacobs School of Music.

NOAH LYONS

is a sophomore undergraduate student at the IU Jacobs School of Music studying Audio Engineering with a minor in Music Production. His main instrument is the guitar, both acoustic and electric, but he is also adequate on bass, piano, and vocals. He is also a member of IU’s student radio organization, WIUX, as well as Audio Student Productions, a club that provides sound support to small local venues. In his spare time, Noah enjoys to song write, record other musicians, spend time with friends, or watch sports.

MELAINA MUTH
(Guest Musician)

from Brookfield Illinois, is currently a Junior in the B.F.A. Contemporary Dance Program at Indiana University. Before coming to IU, she studied both dance and music for many years. At the age of five, she began taking piano lessons, before starting again at the age of nine and taking guitar lessons at her local music shop, A Sound Education. She later also began lessons in music theory and piano in addition to having previously had many years of vocal lessons and violin lessons. While music is an amateur interest of hers, she has also spent many years working on an array of arrangements for both small and large ensembles. She has arranged and edited music for Robert Burden’s house class and his piece “House of Love” that premiered at the 2022 New Moves production, as well as for many of the projects and organizations she is a part of. Post-college she plans on pursuing a career in choreography, performance, and dance film.

JACK OSBORNE
(Guest Musician)

is a fourth year undergraduate at JSoM studying classical guitar performance. Jack enjoys jazz, composition, and plays the drums, bass, and practices voice. Jack’s pieces are moody, contemporary, and usually have a bit of a kick, like a habanero.

YE RAN
(Guest Musician)

Chinese guitarist Ye Ran is completing her Guitar Doctor of Music at IU Jacobs School of Music. Ran started learning the classical guitar with her father, Jinyang Ran, a Chinese Guitarist and educator, at the age of eight. In 2017, Ran entered IU Jacobs School of Music majoring Guitar Bachelor Degree in Music Science, and with a major outside field of Psychology. After finishing her Bachelor degree in 2020, Ran was admitted to the guitar performance master degree with a full scholarship, and employed as an Associate Instructor of guitar at IU Jacobs School of Music, teaching guitar elective classes and lessons since 2021. In competition, Ran won the first prize of the High School Musical Instrument Competition in Bayi High School (2015), Xinjiang, China, the Gold Prize of Beethoven International Music Competition (2023), Art of Music Interpretation Special Award of Beethoven International Music Competition (2023).

ZHOU ZHOU (Guest Musician)
a Chinese Classical Guitarist, Doctoral Scholar, and Graduate Assistant at the IU Jacobs School of Music, is currently learning from the Grammy-nominated Professor, Jiji Kim.

Zhou was born into a family with a strong musical atmosphere. His mother is a versatile teacher, and his uncle is a famous Chinese instrument performer. Zhou began learning Classical Guitar from Associate Professor Qian Zhengxian at the Wuhan Conservatory of Music. Following that, he enrolled in the Wuhan Conservatory of Music and earned his High School and Bachelor’s Degrees. During his studies in China, as a formidable competitor, he also achieved several awards, including the Second Prize at the “Wuhan Conservatory of Music Academic Competition” and the “Asian Guitar Festival,” as well as the Third Prize at the “Yangzi River Competition.”

SPECIAL THANKS to our 2022–2023 and 2023–2024 season Associate Producers

The contributions of Associate Producers directly fund an IU Theatre production of the donor’s choice. As an associate producer, you will help directly support the cost of a production’s costume, scenic, lighting, sound, and projection design.

Your name will be featured in our programs and all curtain speeches. You will also enjoy benefits as year-round members of Theatre Circle, an organization founded to promote and encourage the study and practice of theatre arts in the Department of Theatre, Drama, and Contemporary Dance and an awareness of theatre throughout the community.

For more information, please scan the QR code, pick up a Theatre Circle brochure in the lobby, or contact David Tracy at davtracy@iu.edu

You can also visit the Department of Theatre, Drama, and Contemporary Dance website at theatre.indiana.edu and select the Theatre Circle link under Alumni+Giving.
